

Hope for a Lifetime

Cancer doesn't discriminate and it doesn't have an age limit. Ask yourself, "How can I bring hope to someone for a lifetime?" Raise awareness, donate or volunteer for a local cancer fighting agency. Each of us has a role to play in attacking this disease and to bring our friends and families hope for a lifetime.

STATER BROS. Charities
Caring For The Communities We Serve

Over the past eight years Stater Bros. Markets and Stater Bros. Charities have donated over $4 million to fight cancer in the local communities of Southern California. With this support, hospitals have been able to upgrade their imaging equipment to digital technology that enables doctors to detect cancer at earlier stages, offer more comprehensive services that help patients navigate through the web of healthcare, and give patients and their families educational tools to help them fight their illnesses. Stater Bros. has also funded family support groups and informational sessions for healthcare professionals so they too can remain on the cutting edge of treatment. These achievements were not accomplished alone, but rather through the help and support of countless customers, employees and community members who have rallied for one cause, cancer, and in effect have helped to bring "Hope for a Lifetime."

Each of these ambassadors represents the heart of our community as they fight cancer with the help of an organization dedicated to their specific care. Stater Bros. Charities would like to thank each of its represented partners for their continued support of our community. Because of their involvement, patients and their families don't have to fight this alone!

In 2008, Stater Bros. Charities partnered with a local group of women called Inland Women Fighting Cancer to host the annual Believe Walk which brings more than 12,000 people to the City of Redlands. In 2007, fellow cancer survivors, Annie Sellas, Cathy Stockton and Nancy Varner approached Jack H. Brown, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Stater Bros. Supermarkets about starting a walk in the local community that would benefit all types of cancers and that would raise funds exclusively for the Inland Empire region of Southern California. Upon meeting with them, the Believe Walk was born. Since that time more than $1.8 million has been donated to local cancer fighting organizations in the Inland Empire region of Southern California.
